The Women of the South.

BY COL. E. H. JONES.

The world has never before witnessed such an exhibition of patriotic devotion and entire self-denial as that displayed by the women of the South. Timid by nature, and reared in the lap of ease, luxury and indulgence, their unflinching courage and complete self-abnegation not only nerved our arms and fired our hearts, but successfully challenged the sympathy and admiration of the entire unprejudiced world.—They cheerfully yielded their husbands and fathers, their sons and brothers and lovers—not without tears, it is true, but certainly without murmurs—for the success of a cause interwoven with every fibre of their tender and faithful hearts.

They denied themselves all the comforts and conveniences of their homes for the amelioration of our condition, and with an energy that never tired, and a faith that never doubted, they labored, and they prayed and hoped for the grand consummation of victory. In the wild bivouac, on the wearisome tramps and in the roar of battle,—in the crowded and gloomy precincts of the hospital,—everywhere, at all times, under all circumstances, they were the angel ministers of hope, and faith, and charity and goodness. Their words and smiles encouraged and stimulated the faithful and the brave, while every instinct of their pure souls recoiled from the baseness and cowardice that culminated in treachery and desertion, and the sneer of their scorn haunted, as a frightful phantom, the footsteps of the skulking traitor.

To the very last, through victory and defeat, through sunshine and storm, they were as true to the cause as the needle to the magnet; and when came our ruin, final and irretrievable, they felt the misfortune most keenly of all, and theirs were the bitterest tears of anguish shed upon our dire disaster!

But their last act in the sorrowful drama was their crowning glory, and planted the greenest laurels in the wreaths of their immortality.—When we had sorrowfully furled that banner which,

"Though gory,
Yet shall live in song and story,
Though its folds are in the dust," and returned—not, as we all had hoped, with "victory and independence" inscribed upon its folds, torn and rent by the storm of battle—but conquered, disarmed, bleeding, maimed, weary and in rags, they met us, not with averted faces or frown and reproaches, but, amid the ruins of their once happy homes, with poverty and want all around them, they welcomed us with open arms and with gentle and loving words from lacerated and aching hearts, and smiles struggling with tears; they greeted us as vanquished heroes who had deserved success, and bravely strove, by the exercise of all the beautiful and tender arts of love and sympathy, so well at their command, to lighten the burden of our overwhelming sorrow.

And now that the marshaling of rival hosts and the thunder of battle no longer disturb our land—now that the swords are being "beaten into plough-shares, and spears into pruning hooks"—now that Peace—dove-eyed and white-winged Peace—again gladdens our hearts with her merciful visitations—shall the sharers of our joys and our sorrows, our hopes and our despair, be less loved than before?

Shall we not rather seek, as did the courtly knights of chivalry, for fresh opportunities to manifest our appreciation of their sublimely illustrated virtues? Shall we not delight to give renewed evidence of our matchless countrywomen? Shall we not delight to pay grateful tribute to the exalted worth and resplendent beauty that are theirs? Shall we not delight to render that spontaneous and unaffected homage that true manhood ever yields to female excellence?

Yes! With flowers will we crown them as Queens of our affections and our homes! For such a purpose what could be more appropriate and beautiful? To secure them we follow no bullet-rent and battle-stained banner over the mangled and prostrate bodies of our fellowmen. They tell not of the ensanguined track of the military chieftain. They do not remind us of conflagrated homesteads, of outraged virtue, of the tears of bereaved widowhood or the melancholy wail of hapless orphanage. They are of the beautiful creations of an Almighty and beneficent hand; the products of our gardens, fields and woods, emblematic of grace and purity, fit coronets to adorn the brow of innocence and beauty; for they are as fresh as the breeze that plays upon our mountain summits, pure as the dew-drop that sparkles in the first ray of the morning's sun, and chaste as the sight of first love in a guileless maiden's heart.

The women of the South! Ten thousand times ten thousand blessings were daily invoked in their behalf by the gallant men who fought their battles, and to day they live in the affections of the survivors of our heroic and mighty struggle, and their deeds shall emblazon and adorn with more than heraldic glory the brightest pages of candid and impartial history.

During the pursuit of Straight by Gen. Forrest, an incident occurred which Forrest has been heard to repeat with great glee and satisfaction:

The chase was becoming excited and the Confederates were beginning to be eager for its conclusion, when they reached a stream over which the enemy had crossed in safety, but which had, in the meantime, risen so rapidly as to be impassable. Forrest rode along the banks baffled and angry, while the bullets from the other side spun through the trees and whistled about his ears. After vainly seeking for half an hour, he came to a cabin which stood alone in the wilderness, near the water's edge.

There, as a last resort, he enquired for a ford. A young girl ran out and said, "I can show you one if you take me up behind you." The mother was very much shocked, but the girl continued, "I'm not afraid. You're Gen. Forrest, and will take care of me." "Hop up, then," said Forrest, riding close to the fence. The girl bounded upon the horse, clung tightly to the General's sabre sash, and away they rode down the stream, and through the brushwood, to the rattle of sharp-shooting and the whizzing of Minnies. "What's that?" said the girl, innocently, as one of these came near.

"That," said Forrest, "is a skeered bird."—They reached the ford in safety, the command passed over, and the General turned to his gallant little guide and asked what he could do for her? She replied that her brother had been captured by Col. Streight, and was a prisoner in his hands; all she desired was his release.—"Very well," said Forrest, taking a note of the name, "you shall have him by twelve o'clock to-morrow."

PROSPECTUS.

This company owns by warranty title nearly fourteen thousand acres of mineral lands, situated in the counties of Chatham, Moore, Rockingham and Stokes, on the waters of Deep and Dan Rivers, in North Carolinia, which abound in plentiful deposits of coal, copper, iron, salt, and, there is every reason to believe from general and surface indications, petroleum or coal oil.

The services of two practical and efficient men, experienced in boring for oil, and stimulated by a long course of success in Venango county, Pennsylvania, were secured by the company several months since and they are now on the lands, with the requisite force, tools, steam engine and machinery, boring a well with very flattering prospects of success. The organization of this company effected some time since has now been perfected in legal form, by act of incorporation, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $5 each.

By reference to the valuable and laborious reports of Prof. Emmons, State Geologist, and Commodore Wilkes, U. S. Navy, every one interested will be enabled to judge of the value of the large area of territory secured by the North Carolina Petroleum and Mining Co.

It is well known that a superior article of bituminous coal is now being mined in the Deep river coal region, where a portion of the lands are situated, and this company owns property known to be equal if not superior to any on which shafts have been sunk. Copper, iron and salt also abound, and the attention of capitalists has already been directed to this section on account of its value for the above minerals.

Below are given a few extracts from the journals showing that there is no good reason why there should not be as large quantities of oil in the "Old North State" as in other States.

Oil has been struck in Overton county, Tennessee, on the north line of that State, about midway from its eastern border, eighteen miles from the Cumberland mountains.—Christian (Richmond) Observer.

OIL WELLS IN WEST VIRGINIA.—The Parkersburg Times gives an astonishing statement of the yield of wells in the region thereabout, consisting of Wood, Wirt, Ritchie and other counties, viz: Burning Springs, 2,500 barrels per day; White Oak, 1,500; Lick Run, 300; Horse Neck, 150; and of the several wells on Hughes river, 6,000 barrels per day. The quality is said to be remarkably fine. The Times considers the oil of West Virginia the best yet discovered.

THE OIL EXCITEMENT IN ILLINOIS.—The oil excitement in Clark county is still high. Some eight or ten derricks are up and at work. The deepest well is only 325 feet, with a fair yield of oil. Some of the other wells have struck oil and gas at from 70 to 100 feet.—Much time and money will be spent this summer in the thorough development of the oil resources of Clark county. Men of capital and experience seem confident that oil will be found in large quantities, and are willing to test their faith by a free expenditure in developing the lands. The first company who bored on the land of Hon. T. R. Young, are now engaged in trying to raise the auger which was lost last fall. The Eastern Illinois Company will begin work in a few days twelve miles southwest of the first well. The prospect in that locality is good.—Chicago Tribune.

It is known that after a few months boring in the vicinity of Lynchburg, a large vein of oil was struck and a productive well is now in successful operation. This is on the same line with, and about 80 miles from, the company's first well on Dan River, where the indications both general and particular are similar.

In order to have sufficient means to develop this valuable property in such a manner as to insure success, the Directors have authorized 10,000 shares of the capital stock to be sold to raise a working capital, and subscriptions for that number or any part thereof will be received.

An uncommonly favorable opportunity for investment is thus afforded, as those who choose to buy stock under this offer will have the advantage of an equal footing with the original corporators in an enterprise which, after the example of the immense profits realized in those of a similar character in other States, though in many respects on less favorable conditions than this, (compare the extent, cheapness and fee simple title of the basis of operations here offered gives reasonable assurance of the most lucrative results. In many instances in sections of less favorable oil localities, shares have advanced in a few days from $2 or 25 to 220 and even 350, and poor men who made small investments realized fortunes.

Further information may be had at the office of the company, one door north of the Court House, Greensboro, N. C., where books of subscription are now open.

By order of the Directors.

THE SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, SEATON GALES. } Editors.

Tuesday Evening, Aug. 21, 1866.

FOR THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES, AS IT IS, AND THE UNION AS IT WAS.
NO FURTHER AMENDMENTS.

FOR GOVERNOR,
JONATHAN WORTH,
OF RANDOLPH.

The National Union Party and its Principles.

We published, on yesterday, the declaration of principles and the address of the Philadelphia Convention. Our readers will, we trust, file that paper. They will have occasion frequently to recur to the utterances of that body, which has thus successfully inaugurated the true National Union party, based upon the principles and teachings of the Constitution and the action of the Southern States since the cessation of hostilities. These documents need to be studied. Every new reading will develop more and more their conservative character.

The address is an eloquent and able resume of the doctrines of the true Union men of the land, in contra-distinction to the views and principles of the so-called Union men, who affiliate with the Radicals. It sets forth, in the clearest terms, the true interpretation of the Constitution as maintained by Henry Clay and Daniel Webster, and presents the only solution of the anomalous condition of the Republic, which is consonant with the genius of the government and the really reserved rights of the States.

It carefully eschews, on the one hand, the theory of secession, and on the other the Radical idea of consolidation, and gives such an interpretation of the rights and powers of both the State and National governments, as fixes a platform upon which all the friends of the Constitution and of constitutional liberty can stand.

There are expressions in the address which do not sound pleasantly, perhaps, upon the ears of Southern men, but it must be remembered that the address does not deal with feelings or with theories, but with stubborn facts. It is a practical document, ably and manfully grappling with things as they exist, and not with theories which may or may not be held, under different circumstances.

Neither the address nor the declaration of principles contain an essential idea or principle, which the Southern States and people have not already acquiesced in and endorsed—which have not already passed into organic law, and which we are not in honor bound to maintain inviolable.

Radicals, and those who hold to the doctrine of the right of secession, as still a right of the States per se, will not admire and endorse the address or the declaration of principles. But Southern men, who were original Union men, and those who formerly held to the right of secession, but who now regard it as a dead issue, as no longer a practical question in this government, while they may except to a few of the statements of the address and the verbiage employed in some instances, can but give their sanction to the doctrines and principles so ably set forth.

Moreover, the address and platform elaborate fully the policy of the President and have received his hearty endorsement.

The issue is then fully made up. Henceforth there can be but two National parties in this contest; the National Union party, endorsed by President Johnson, and the Radical party, endorsed by the Radical Congress—the one advocating the Union and the Constitution as it is, the other opposing that Union and advocating a consolidated government as fore-shadowed in the Freedmen's Bureau and Civil Rights Bills and in the proposed Howard amendment.

Our destiny is linked with the success of the National Union party, endorsed by President Johnson. All the hopes of Constitutional liberty, all the interests of the South and of a fraternal Union, are bound up with that party.—If it fail, God alone knows what is to be the fate of the Republic and the fate of the National Union men, North or South.

People of North Carolina! you cannot hesitate which of the two to choose. If the Radical party succeed, there is an end to the civil governments of the South; the inauguration of a reign of terror, administered by men filled with malice and hatred and revenge, more bitter and unrelenting than that of the Jacobins of France, will be the result. The evils we now suffer are but a feather in the scales, compared with what is treasured up against us in the bosoms of the Radicals and their supporters.

Nor are North Carolina Radicals and sympathisers less vindictive, less malicious and less persecuting, than Northern Radicals. Led on by venal and vicious presses, they will invoke upon their own people the most degrading and the most severe punishments. Nothing will be too bad, so their own guilty heads can be screened!

The Election.

The official returns from 75 Counties foot up as follows:

Rejection	19.111
Ratification	17.351
Maj. for Rejection	1.760

There are yet 14 Counties to be heard from. We shall publish, to-morrow, the official vote, by Counties, and shall keep it standing until all the returns are in. Sheriffs now have but three days in which to make the returns.

We think that there is no longer room for doubt that the Constitution has been rejected.

THE PRESENCE of General Grant, who stood beside the President, during the delivery of his late great speech, will be understood as evidencing his approval of the sentiments of the address and of the objects of the Philadelphia Convention. If it did not mean that, we are at a loss to interpret its meaning.

The Issue Joined.

The issues are at last strictly defined. The lines are rigidly drawn. There can no longer be shirking, or political jugglery, or attempted feats of double equitation. There can, until the great existing controversy is composed, be but two parties in the Republic, the party of the Union and the faction for disunion. We may even go farther, and assert, with entire truth that, collateral to this vital issue, there is still another hardly less important,—the Philadphia platform on one side and universal negro suffrage on the other.

The great National Union Convention has laid down broadly and distinctly the principles, the success of which is essential to the restoration of Constitutional Union. These principles are those upon which the entire policy of the Executive has been heretofore based. The President, in his late great speech, re-affirms them with grand emphasis, and as truthfully as eloquently designates them the "Second Declaration of Independence." So far as our observation has as yet extended, they are accepted by the conservative, true Union-loving press and people of the country, North and South. But the South can only give them moral influence and support, by exhibiting, as our people have uniformly done since the surrender, an honest acquiescence in the situation and an entire submission to the arbitrament of arms. The great battle is to be fought at the North. In its hands rests the momentous issue, and it behooves us, in every way that lies in our power, to strengthen the arms of the friends of Constitutional Union in that quarter. In a few days, the indications of popular sentiment there will be such as to enable us to draw some inference as to the probable effect of the action at Philadelphia upon the public mind, and the probable result of the Fall elections. Mass-meetings are to be held in various quarters for the purpose of ratifying the proceedings of the Convention, and they promise to be large and enthusiastic.

The contest at the North will be bitter. We shall be deeply interested spectators, for upon its result depends our all of liberty and safety, as a people. If the friends of the Constitution are successful, we shall speedily be restored to our rights and privileges in the Union. If they fail, and the Radical element triumphs, no tongue can tell the further oppressions and humiliations in store for us.

What Southern man, who loves the land that gave him birth, can hesitate how to identify himself in such a struggle? Not one, unless it be the few, here and there, who seek in the ruin of their own fellow-citizens an outlet to their feelings of disappointment, revenge and hate.

A Word to the Blacks.

If it be true, as reported, that the price of labor in Indiana is a barrel of corn per day to the hands employed in gathering the crop, would it not be well for the thousands of strong, able-bodied men and boys, who throng our towns and are unable to procure remunerative employment, to go out to the North Western States at once? Labor is in demand in those States, and, indeed, in all the Northern States, and is more remunerative than here. It is a mystery how the many colored people in this city, who have no stated or regular employment, are being fed and clothed. Our own farmers need them, if they would work. Many, however, seem determined to live on almost nothing, or live by theft, or by licentiousness, in the towns, where they can lounge and see the sights, and join the societies, and follow in the processions, and huzza for liberty, and be respectable enough to be called, by each other, Mr. and Mrs. such a one, rather than go to the country and work on the farms, and learn to be honest, and frugal and independent. The colored men and women, who are determined to make an honest living by their own labor and frugality, will be respected, and their children after them, when street loungers and street walkers, wallowing in filth and licentiousness, will be hated and despised or rotting in their graves. It is time to speak out on this subject. Those who feel any interest in the future welfare of the blacks ought to deal promptly and honestly with them in this matter. The cold, pinching Winter is coming, when poverty and want will press many of them into the grave, unless they at once go to work to prevent it.

The Emigrants.

A writer in the Standard, who signs himself "Calamus," labors to make the impression that the recent emigrants from Guilford, Randolph, &c., are among the persecuted Union men who have been driven from the State. To make such a charge, directly, would be too easily disproved by facts, hence he and the Standard have adopted a more circumlocutory scheme for fixing the same charge. They now intimate that those people have gone because the school fund and their property have been destroyed by the war. "Calamus" would be ashamed to make such statements over his own signature. The probability is that "Calamus" is about equally guilty with Mr. Holden in inciting and bringing on the war, than whom no man is more responsible, in this State, for preaching secession and its results.

But what are the facts? If proper enquiry is made, it will be found that these self-same emigrants have lost less than any people in North Carolina. The white emigrants never owned negroes, nor bank stock, nor any other species of property destroyed by the war. If they owned any, it was very small. If they were Quakers, they had a better chance to educate their children than other citizens, for, by the contributions of Northern Quakers, schools are being established in all the Quaker settlements. The truth is, both white and black were laboring people, and they left the State to go to Indiana, because labor is more in demand and pays better there than here.

AN AGRICULTURAL society has been formed in Buncombe County.

Southern Loyalists.

We were scarcely prepared to find in North Carolina a sufficient number of persons, in any one locality, who would openly avow their endorsement of the Radical policy. We are glad, however, to find that the Radicals in Henderson County are bold enough to proclaim it.—The following preamble and resolutions were adopted at a meeting held at Blue Ridge Academy, in Henderson County, recently. One fact, however, is noticeable: That the day and the date of the meeting are not given in the official proceedings, as published in the Pioneer and Standard. The resolutions are as follows:

WHEREAS, A loyal Union Convention will be holden in the city of Philadelphia on the 3*d day of September*, proxim., with the view of endorsing the restoration policy of the Joint Reconstruction Committee of Congress; and

WHEREAS, It is the duty of all good Governments to protect the innocent and punish the guilty; and

WHEREAS, We have suffered incalculable losses from bad men holding offices, in utter disregard of the oaths they had taken to support the Constitution of the United States. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we recommend the appointment of two delegates to represent this Congressional District in the Philadelphia Convention.

Resolved, That we most cordially endorse the Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, as recommended by the reconstruction Committee, known as the Howard Amendment, which prohibits Traitors from holding office.

Resolved, That we recommend the adoption of the Amended Constitution of North Carolina.

Resolved, That we will support no candidate for office that is opposed to these Constitutional Amendments.

Resolved, That we do not regard Governor Worth as the candidate of the Union party.

The above is frank and open. These views are avowed by the friends and supporters of Hon. A. H. Jones, the member elect to Congress from the Mountain District. The official proceedings appear in his paper, the Pioneer, and, though his name is not mentioned in the proceedings, we presume he fully endorses them.

These men unequivocally endorse the Howard amendment, and yet call themselves Union men. No wonder that such traitors to the Union and to the peace of the Republic should not endorse Gov. Worth. Gov. Worth endorses President Johnson, but they endorse the Radical Congress.

Mr. Holden publishes the above without comment. Of course he approves the movement. Yet for some days he has been rather coy in his notes of approval of the Radicals. The success of the Philadelphia Convention has astounded him, and he seems to higgle and hesitate, yet his breaking with the President and his endorsement of Radicalism are too palpable. It is too late for him to take the fence; yet he is evidently in a quandary.

"The issue is now fairly joined between the President and the present Congress in the elections pending in the Northern and Western States. The controversy will be very bitter.—We sincerely trust that the result may be the very best for the whole country."—Standard.

The nature of the "result" which Mr. Holden "sincerely trusts" may occur is evident from what he says in another part of his paper. In reply to our remark that "such a Union as the Radicals commend to our lips," &c., would be "destructive to American liberty," he informs us that "you (we) will have to take pretty much such a Union as the one thus described!" Very well; if so be, we shall not "take it" until it is forced upon us. We shall not say: "Do, kind sirs, please give it to us!"

Were it not that we have such collateral evidence as to what the Standard "sincerely trusts" may happen, the above might well be regarded as the most ingenious specimen of non-committalism extant. "We sincerely trust that the result may be the very best for the whole country!" This reminds us of the painter described by the immortal knight of La Mancha in one of his conversations with his squire Sancho: "The fellow that drew these, Sancho, puts me in mind of Orbanega, the painter of Uveda, who, as he sat at work, being asked what he was painting, made answer: 'Anything that comes uppermost!"

Gov. Worth in the Eastern Counties.

A friend writing us from an Eastern County says:

"In the Northeastern counties of the State, the people are united in desiring the re-election of Gov. Worth without opposition. He enjoys the singular good fortune to be thought an honest man by every shade of political opinion. Wherever I hear him spoken of, whether by former secessionists, Union men, war men or peace men, the speaker is very apt to say, that every body calls Gov. Worth a straight-forward, strong-sensed, honest man, and that is what we want now."

WHO CAN misunderstand the following sentence of President Johnson's noble speech:

"The only question is the salvation of the country; for our country rises above all party considerations or influences. How many are there in the United States that now require to be free? They have the shackles upon their limbs, and are bound as rigidly as though they were in fact in slavery. I repeat, then, that your declaration is the second proclamation of emancipation to the people of the United States, and offers a common ground upon which all parties can stand."

This is the heart and kernel of this admirable speech. It is too plain to admit of doubt.—Who are the slaves? Who are the tyrants that hold them in bondage? Who are they that will set them free?

OUR MAIMED HEROES.—We saw no less than seven one-legged former soldiers alight from an omnibus in front of one of our city hotels on Saturday. These gallant, unfortunate men were probably all from one county, and have come here to avail themselves of the noble munificence of the State in providing our mutilated heroes with artificial limbs.

There were a number of pick-pockets in Philadelphia—mostly Radicals.

GENERAL NEWS.

The intended Presidential tour through Middle and Northern States will have some political meaning. The President will be accompanied by Mr. Seward, Mr. McCulloch, Mr. Welles and Mr. Browning. The Secretary of War, the Attorney General and the Postmaster General will not be able to go. Three weeks is the time allowed for the tour. Of course, the President and the Secretaries with him will have occasion to address the people at various places on their route, and especially in the hot bed of Northern Radicalism, Illinois.

THE PRESIDENT'S BALE OF COTTON.—President Johnson is said to be quite at a loss what to do with the bale of cotton that has been sent him from Macon. The gift of the loyal residents of that town is fully appreciated, but how best to dispose of it is at present a puzzling question. It is not unlikely, however, but it may be forwarded to the World's Exposition at Paris, where it would probably attract as much attention as most of the American articles that will there be exhibited.

The first of the fall elections will be held in Vermont and Maine in the early part of September. Pennsylvania, Ohio, and other Western States hold their elections in October, and Maryland, New York, and Massachusetts in November.

PROMOTION.—Major-General Miles, who has been tormenting Mr. Davis, at Fortress Monroe, has been appointed Colonel in the regular army, and assigned to a negro regiment.

The report that the property of General Wise had been restored to him, is without the shadow of foundation, and we make this declaration, unpleasant as it is to us, from the best authority. So says the Norfolk Virginian.

The military authorities at New Orleans report the number killed in the recent riots at 38; wounded, 146.

The Union State Committee of Pennsylvania have issued an address of welcome to the Mulatto Unionists, who are to meet in Philadelphia on the 3d of September.

Queen Emma, of the Sandwich Islands, is receiving overmuch attention from the toadies in Washington. So annoying had their impertinent intrusions become at Willard's, that Secretary Seward invited her to take up her residence at his residence, to which Her Majesty assented.

The President, a while ago, was loud in asserting that Union soldiers should receive the offices at his disposal.—Carl Schurz.

That doesn't affect you, Carl. You were an officer, but "no soldier."—Prentice.

Thad. Stevens says of Forney, "there is no man in whose hands he would more willingly trust the cause of human freedom." Poor freedom! exclaims a cotemporary.

The capital stock of the Adams Express Company is $10,000,000, of which $2,000,000 is owned in Hartford, Connt., where it sold on Friday for $125 a share.

It is reported out West that the town of Monroe, Ohio, has been blown away by hurricane. Anybody finding such a town will please return it to its former position, and no questions asked.

Charles Sumner has gone to the White mountains.

$50 REWARD.
Stolen out of my Stables, at my residence in Northampton County, near Murfreesboro, N. C., on the night of the 31st. July last, a LIGHT BAY HORSE, rather raw boned, with both hind feet white and a knot or wen on the inside of the right hind leg, between the hock-joint and thigh.
Said Horse is supposed to have been stolen by a freedman, calling himself Albert Graham, and who said that he formerly belonged to Col. Graham, of Charlotte, N. C., and he may have taken the horse with him towards or to that place. He is a tall black negro, and wore, the day he left here, a long yellow linen duster.
I will pay the above reward of fifty dollars for the delivery of the horse to me, or information that will lead to his recovery.

IMPORTANT SALE
IN WILSON NORTH CAROLINA
THE undersigned, having been duly appointed and empowered by the stockholders of WILSON FEMALE SEMINARY,
to make sale of that VALUABLE PROPERTY, including all the buildings, together with about Twelve and a fourth Acres of Land, will offer the same at public auction, on the 14th day of September next.
The Seminary is a large and commodious building, admirably arranged for school purposes, and contains a sufficient number of rooms to accommodate about TWO HUNDRED STUDENTS. The buildings are nearly new, having been erected in 1860, and are of every kind needed in a first class Seminary.
The Seminary is located on the Eastern boundary of the town of Wilson, below the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad, and on an elevated spot of ground, well shaded, and having excellent wells of water. The proverbial healthiness of the town of Wilson, (it being the highest point on the Wilmington and Weldon Railroad,) and the morality, intelligence and refinement of its citizens, make it one of the most desirable locations for a first class, Male or Female, Seminary in the State.
Of the 12¼ acres of land a sufficient quantity will be sold for school or other purposes, together with all the buildings formerly used by Seminary, and the balance of the land will be sold in lots, the size of which will be announced on the day of sale.
TERMS OF SALE.—One-fourth cash; on the balance a credit of six months will be given.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—Towles will have auction sales to-night and to-morrow morning.

A fine cow for sale: Apply to N. W. West, of this city.

TREATMENT OF SOLDIERS.—A city cotemporary, on yesterday, enters up a charge against the officers of the U. S. Artillery, stationed near this city, on account of alleged bad treatment to the soldiers. We have no knowledge of the facts, and we are not inclined to give credit to charges affecting the reputation of officers of the army, without the best of evidence. We have no reason to beleive that the officers of that Company would be guilty of such conduct.

One fact, however, has come to our knowledge, which, perhaps, our cotemporary may not have heard. We learn that the soldiers of all the commands stationed around here have seriously injured a number of the planters by the constant destruction, and appropriating to their own use, of the young corn, melons and fruits of the people. Many persons have been seriously injured by them, and it may be for some of these outrages that the officers have been forced to punish them severely.

Staunton, and Edwin Glover, Fayetteville, N. C.; K. Pettengell, Greensboro', N. C.

NORTH CAROLINA INGENUITY.—J. A. Mattock, of Onslow county, has invented and patented a machine known as the "J. A. Mattock's Improved Apparatus for the distillation of pine wood." This valuable invention has been in successful operation, and is likely to come into general use in the piney regions. The machine runs out, from a load of pine wood, seventy-five gallons of crude spirits of turpentine, which is clarified at a small expense, at a cost of less than twenty per cent. Besides this product of the machine's manipulation, fifty-four pounds of acid, after being purified, are produced, which is worth $1,50 per pound, or more. In addition there are produced four barrels of pitch.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Petersburg Index writing from Jones' White Sulpher Springs, has the following:

"The cotton in this county looks well, and as there is a large crop planted farmers will perhaps be compensated for the small yield of corn by the fruitfulness of th is valuable product. The tobacco is not good, and from all appearances will bear a fine price next season.

This is one of the most beautiful countries I have ever seen. The soil is productive, the farms are large—many of them containing one, two, three, and some of them four thousand acres of land. Almost every variety of growth abounds in the forests, though the stately oak predominates. At intervals, scattered over the country, are costly and comfortable residences, beautifully located on elevated ground and surrounded by magnificent groves. The people are cultivated, refined, and fond of social enjoyments, and when to all these advantages, natural and artificial, I add that no part of the world is more healthful, you will conclude with myself that this continent does not furnish a more inviting place of residence than Warren county."

DISCOURAGING.—The Editor of the Old North State has just returned to his post, after an absence of some days. He says:

"In traveling through the whole length of Davidson county we did not see a single field which will yield a half crop of corn the coming fall—they are literally burned up by the drought. And many other counties, we learn, are suffering quite as badly. The wheat crop upon being threshed has turned out much worse than we expected—less than a half crop being realized. Really it looks as if we were on the eve of a famine. We can see no relief ahead of us for the people of this section of the State for the next year, but rather a constant increase of the present hard times."

DIFFICULTY IN NORTHAMPTON.—An eye witness informs the Norfolk Virginian of the particulars of a disturbance in the county of Northampton, on Monday last, which, at one time, thratened to be serious. He writes:

"A very large concourse of negroes assembled at the court house, it appears, for drill—many with side arms. In marching the line came in contact with a Captain Oliver, a sea-faring and Northern man, neither party giving way. Captain Oliver, it is said, being in liquor, commenced an assault upon the negroes, knocking down a number of them and finally succeeded in getting out of their clutches without serious injury. Captain Oliver retired from the scene, and order was restored; but to the entire discomfiture of the negroes. There was no more of the procession.

Later in the day a worthless character, very much under the influence of tangle-leg whisky, attacked a negro with a knife, unprovoked and uncalled for, which was resented by the negro, when a general melee commenced, and threatened to be a serious one, but for the timely and strenuous efforts of Maj. French, of the Freedmen's Bureau, who by his firmness and prowess quelled them and by securing the aggressor and placing him beyond the reach of the infuriated mob. The day passed without any further difficulty, and none would have occurred but for the interference of men under the influence of whisky."

TERRIBLE TRADGEDY IN BURKE COUNTY.—We have been informed by a gentleman from Morganton, that Mr. Bobert Tate, a most estimable young gentleman, was brutally murdered in cold blood by James McKesson, last Tuesday. McKesson was the husband of Mr. Tate's sister, and in a drunken fit last week shot at his wife three times, which caused her to leave home and go to her father's for protection. A few days afterwards, McKesson went and persuaded his wife, upon fair promises of repentance, to return with him to their home. In passing a neighbor's house on the road, he told his wife to proceed on, that he was thirsty and would call and get a drink of water. Here he met Mr. Tate, who in a mild manner remonstrated with him for the brutal treatment of his sister, McKesson's wife. McKesson asked him if he "took it up." Tate replied "no," but he wished him to act better in future. McKesson then told him to come out and he would shoot him. Tate not supposing that he would put his threat into execution, perhaps, stepped out at the door, and was shot down, and died in about ten minutes afterwards. Mr. Tate was unarmed, a single man, and most worthy gentleman. McKesson made his escape and had not been apprehended at the last accounts. The gun that was usedwas charged with wood-screws, several of whichwere extracted from the body of the deceased.—Statesville American.

Impeachment of the President and Another Civil War.

That the hot-headed Radicals are looking to another civil war, and deliberately plotting measures to bring it on, is a fact which is daily leaking out through the mouths of their unwary coadjutors. It is a leading part of their plan to impeach the President, at the next session of Congress, in the expectation that he will resist being put out of office by such a Rump, and that, in this manner, the conflict will be precipitated. Senator Wilson has declared it as his opinion "that the President would be impeached next winter," "unless a change took place this fall." Gerrit Smith has recently published a letter in which, with characteristic frankness and candor, he expresses his opinion that another civil war is probably necessary, and is close upon us. We make the following extract:

"The war will break out again if suffrage is withheld from the black man. It will, in that case, break out in revenge upon the loyal whites of the South, in persecution of the blacks of the South, and, but too probably, on a much broader, if not indeed on a national scale.

In all probability our nation will learn no more of righteousness until she shall have drifted on to another breaking up. In all probability she must reach another bloody catastrophe before her sunken soul shall feel another upward impulse.

In closing this letter, let me say that I would not underrate the present Congress. In the main it is composed of men who are neither ignorant of the right nor indifferent to it. Unhappily they were not sufficiently resolute to follow up their convictions and insist on harvesting the fruits of our dear-bought victory.—Alas, that Congress has, but too probably, left it impossible for these fruits to be harvested. Alas that its mistakes have, but too probably, rendered vain all this expenditure of blood and treasure! The nation must pass through another season of sorrow ere it shall reach its season of joy. Seed must again be sown in tears and blood ere this nation shall reap its harvest of salvation."

"Negro suffrage at whatever cost," is the legend which the Radicals are everywhere inscribing upon their party banners. Speaker Colfax, in his late speech in Chicago, stated it to be the determination of the Republican party that the South shall be kept out until they adopt the pending constitutional amendment; and Senator Trumbull, in his speech at the same meeting, said, without attempting to mince the matter, that negro suffrage is the aim and substance of the amendment. The chief obstacle in their way is not the Constitution—for which they care nothing—but President Johnson, whom they mean to impeach, and get out of the way; by peaceable means if they can, but by force if they find it necessary. That reverned old bruiser and blackguard, Parson Brownlow, has lately sounded the tocsin of a new civil war in a speech at Knoxville. The following is from a Knoxville telegram to the Radical Chicago Tribune:

"Governor Brownlow spoke here to-day. He said the rebellion headed by Andrew Johnson would share the same fate as that headed by Jeff. Davis. It attempted, a million of loyal swords would leap from their scabbards, and millions of bayonets surround the Capitol, and sweep the usurper and traitor from the Executive Mansion."

The Rochester Democrat also grows bloodthirsty, and, in a recent issue, cries havoc as follows:

"If by reason of advantage in position, the opposition insists in holding out, THEN IT MUST BE REDUCED TO A TRIAL OF MAIN STRENGTH, AND THE WEAKER POWER MUST GO TO THE WALL AT LAST. We have no fears of the result, but regret THE WASTE OF LIFE AND TREASURE, the humiliation in the eyes of foreign nations, and the impediments to the country's progress in power and prosperity which the exercise of a little common sense on the part of the minority might prevent."

Thus while patriotic citizens of the North and the South are assembling at Philadelphia for the re-establishment of peace, prosperity and good will, these furious and malignant Radicals—these bloodhounds of civil war—are slipping from the collar put upon them by the Constitution, and opening in full cry upon the President and the Union.—*N. An affidavit, made by Mr. Mullins, Clerk to Howard, Dulman & Co., Solicitors, having been presented to the Court of Admiralty, setting forth that seven steamers, ex-blockade-runners, lying at Liverpool, and standing in the name of Frazier, Trenholm & Co., were lawfully the property of the U. S., having belonged to the Confederate government at the close of the war, the Court issued a warrant for £20,000 against each steamer and took possession.—It is alleged that three of the vessels are subject to the pending chancery suit, brought by the U. S. against privateers; three others are the bona fide property of Frazier, Trenholm & Co., and one other belongs to the builders, having never been registered.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.

THE SOLDIERS' CONVENTION.

The meeting of officers of the Federal army, at Willard's Hotel, last night, to consider the propriety of holding a Convention of officers of the Federal and Confederate armies, was quite well attended. After considerable discussion, it was agreed that a Convention of the soldiers of the Union army only should be held in Chicago, on the seventeenth day of September next. It was thought that a call for a meeting of soldiers of the North and South would follow the meeting at Chicago. A committee of five was appointed to publish a call. The committee consists of Generals Custer, Meredith, Rousseau, McCook and Crook. Committee of arrangements, Generals Skaats, Osborn, Mann, Hotchkiss and C. W. Wallace and Colonel Markland.

GENERAL GRANT SUSTAINING THE PRESIDENT.

The National Intelligencer, describing the scene when the President was waited on, Saturday, by the Committee from the Philadelphia Convention, and when he gave his cordial approval to the transactions of that Convention, says:

"The presence of so many members of the Cabinet was a voluntary tribute on their part to the patriotism of the Convention. No invitations had been sent to them to attend. The absence of Secretary of War Stanton was the subject of general remark, but it was amply compensated for by the voluntary presence of Gen. Grant, who stood beside the President throughout the whole proceeding. The lively interest he manifested, and the genial smile with which he greeted each of the committee and the delegates, attest his complete sympathy with the National Union party, his approval of its purposes, and his accord with the policy enunciated by the President."

The Great Convention.

A correspondent of the New York World thus reviews the character, appearance, &c., of the late National Union Convention:

"Looking back upon the proceedings of the Convention, several things engage one's attention. In the first place the management was perfect. All the business was transacted with exemplary promptness, to the total exclusion of anything and everything not directly pertaining to the subject in hand. And what was passing strange, not a single set speech was delivered on the floor. In fact, the only speeches made were those of the temporary and the permanent Presidents upon taking the chair. Nor did anybody appear anxious to speak. Sitting upon the platform, and thence looking on the sea of upturned faces before it, you could read in each countenance a purpose to avoid every subject not strictly related to the one purpose of restoring the Union in its pristine integrity. There was no factious parliamentary skirmishing, no jarring of any kind. From first to last harmony reigned. A grand spectacle it was, too, to see the many hundred old men among the delegates, many of whom appeared in a political convention for the first time in their lives. Their enthusiasm was contagious by reason of its very spontaniety. One old gentleman in particular, of the Philadelphia delegation, was almost unhappy if he could not obtain some pretext for rising every few minutes and cheering on his own account. He was the more noticeable because of his prominent position, the seats of the Pennsylvania delegation being directly in front of the platform.

Another prominent characteristic of the Convention, as I telegraphed yesterday, was the absence of all clap-trap appeals to the feelings. There were no processions through the streets of this and that delegation, no banners, no visiting delegations from the vicinity, but only a plain wigwam, constructed of rough boards most meagerly decorated. And yet there was no lack of enthusiasm; rather was it the more to be appreciated because of its genuineness.

The personal appearance of the delegates attracted general notice. There were among them unusually few persons who come within the category of politicians, the majority being apparently men unsolicitous for political honors. It looked oddly enough, I assure you, to see on the stage the venerable Dr. Leonard Woods, who has just resigned the Presidency of Bowdoin College. He remarked to-day somewhat facetiously that he had never before attended a political convention, but had been present at the meetings of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, and comparing the Assembly with the present Convention, he regarded the latter as more of a religious body than the former."

THE NATIONAL UNION BUSINESS COLLEGE

WASHINGTON, D. C,

Offers superior advantages for a thorough Business Education.

The course of instruction embraces Commission, Importing, Jobbing, Retailing, Bank and other Bookkeeping, Commercial Law, Arithmetic, Correspondence, Spencerian Penmanship and Business Practice.

PENMANSHIP is taught by Henry C. Spencer, the leading author of this system, and celebrated as the Editor of the "Spencerian Key to Practical Penmanship," adopted by nearly all first class Colleges as the standard of criticism. Unusual facilities are here presented for acquiring this valuable art.

The system of "BUSINESS PRACTICE," originated and successfully taught by the Proprietor, receives his special attention. This is the most valuable part of the course. Here the student applies his theoretical knowledge. He buys and sells representative mdse, makes out notes, drafts, invoices, &c., deposits College money in the College Bank, and checks it out as his business requires. Becoming, in turn, Retailer, Wholesale, Forwarder, Banker, he soon acquires a knowledge of business forms, learns to compose and condense the history of every transaction and thinks for himself. He is thus prepared for actual business.

Full scholarship, good for review at any time, with Life Membership in this Union of Colleges extending to the principal cities, only $45. Books and stationery extra.

BUCKEYE SULKY PLOW.

Being impressed with the necessity, and importance of economy in farming, I am happy to have it in my power to furnish to farmers at manufacturers prices the BUCKEYE COTTON & CORN CULTIVATOR OR SULKEY PLOW.

It is certainly the greatest improvement of the age in agricultural implements.

It will, with two horses and one hand, cultivate as much land, and do it as well, as four horses and four hands in the usual way; and the plower can either walk or ride at pleasure; which enables old or decripped men, who cannot follow the common plow to execute the work as well as the most robust.

It is manufactured by R. Sinclair & Co., Baltimore, at $70, and is the cheapest plow in use, because of the great saving in hands, teams and provisions. For further information upon the subject, address.
